Purpose of the Programme:	The Master program in the U.S. Foreign Affairs is the continuation of the Bachelor American Studies Humanitarian Interdisciplinary program opened first time in Georgia at the International Black Sea University (IBSU) in cooperation with the U.S Embassy. Specificity and uniqueness of the Studies program involving wide scope of diverse disciplines, like: American History, American Literature, American Multicultural Studies, American Culture & Society, American Geography, American Women's History, American Media, American Politics, etc. and the students' great interest towards American History and Foreign Policy encouraged us to create the module of the Bachelor program – Master program: U.S. Foreign Affairs, the aim of which is to deepen the student's knowledge of Bachelor degree American History oriented disciplines, like: American History, Politics, American Culture and Society, American Multicultural Studies, as the United States was created with the help of its unique immigration historic past.
	 The program will outline the students' knowledge and vision on the U.S. Foreign policy and its challenges that involve two stages: the first until September 10, 2001. The first stage involved the transnational historic period of the end of the Cold War despite the on-going Bosnia, Rwanda and many other deadly conflicts; the challenges of globalization sweeping the world, bringing their own combination of progress and problems; enhancing the scope of democracy, facing challenges of consolidation and institutionalization. And the second stage starting from 9/11, implying the transformation of U.S. foreign policy agenda by announcing war to terrorism; The program will equip graduates with strategies, which will help them to correctly accentuate the importance of Georgia's relations with Euro-Atlantic partners and organizations; the courses of the program will introduce MA students U.S. foreign policy core issues: what the U.S. national interest is and which policies serve it best; which institutions, actors, presidents within the American political system, play what roles and have how much influence in relations to Georgia as well; dynamics of the U.S. history, peculiarities of the region, multiculturalism in American political system based on American experts. Through the program, students will thoroughly research the processes of shaping US foreign policy as a "process of choice", that means the formation of foreign policy through political institutions and the social influence of the American political system, at the same time understands the need to deepen his/her learning process.
