International Youth Summit "OPEN WORLD"

Greetings,

From October 27 to 31 this year, organized by the "Together for Youth" Foundation - Prof. Dr. Danica Grujić, the International Youth Summit "Open World" will be organized in the famous Serbian nature park Zlatibor (the program and detailed description of this event are attached). More than 3,000 young people from all over the world are expected to participate in the summit. Participants will have the opportunity to attend more than 20 thematic panels, where lecturers from different countries of the world, representatives of state institutions and the largest companies, as well as prominent athletes, artists and public figures will present.

On behalf of the organizers, we kindly ask you to inform the relevant institutions and organizations about the invitation to participate, so that the best students and outstanding young people from your country take part in this event.

Nemanja Nedeljković, director of the Together for Youth Foundation - prof. Dr. Danica Grujić

Lecturers: The most eminent experts for each thematic area of the conference from the country and the world.

Panelists: Ministers, the highest representatives of state institutions and bodies, representatives of the private and public sector, university professors, prominent public figures, representatives from abroad both from the state and the private sector, representatives of embassies (eastern and western), non-governmental sector and foundations, experts from certain fields.

Topics: leadership, business, talent management, human resource management, health, diplomacy, IT, security, youth motivation, pharmacy, culture, media, sports, history, energy, aspects of national culture in the international context, startup, economy, tourism, agriculture, family, value system.

Description: Organizing the first international youth summit organized by the Foundation and under the auspices of the president and the state, which would bring together the most talented, best students and successful young people from this area, with guests from abroad on the one hand and representatives of state institutions, domestic and international companies, as well as non-governmental sector, on the other hand. The idea is that this manifestation will grow in the coming years into the biggest event for young people in this part of Europe. In this way, Serbia would become a gathering place for the best among young people, representatives of world universities, student and non-governmental organizations, as representatives of state institutions and the private sector. With this kind of event, young people would have the opportunity to connect with state institutions, the biggest domestic companies and companies from all over the world. This represents a chance for establishing better relations, international cooperation in various fields, economic cooperation and cooperation among young people, launching international projects and various startup and business projects. For the country of Serbia, the organization of such an event would create an opportunity on the international stage to present itself as a new gathering center for young people from the region and the whole world. Such an event does not exist in Serbia or in the region at this level, and thus Serbia would become the first and only country in this part of Europe to organize such a large summit for young people.
